EXPLANATORY NOTES TO SIVAPURANAM

(Abbr – S.S.Y: Songs and Sayings of Yogaswami)

Part 1

Lines 1-15 The saint sets the scene and addresses the deity of Shiva at the temple in Thiruperunthurai. In the salutation 'the feet' serves as the dominant metaphor. With the first word 'Namasivaya' he uses a mantra – a sacred formula – as description. The meaning becomes broader in line 5:

'The One that manifests as the Many'

1. Line 1 – 'Namasivaya' or 'Sivayanama'

It is also referred to as Panchakshara which means 'five letters'. Its literal meaning is 'Adoration to Shiva'. Its root meaning – Man = Mind / tri = to cross – an instrument to cross the mind. It is recited or contemplated in divine worship.

According to Yogaswami this mantra is both Agamas and Vedas. It is all mantras and tantras, our souls, bodies and possessions. It is the supreme protection. Its derivative meaning takes in the five elements that constitute the earth: Na – earth / Ma – water / Si – fire / Va – air / Ya – akash (ether).

When audibly repeated use this. In silent worship use 'Sivayanama'.

2. 'feet' S.S.Y: Intro. P. xxxi In the Saiva tradition one of the highest form of initiation is the placing of the guru's feet on the disciple's head. In Hindu symbology, the feet of the Lord represents the point of contact between the divine and earthly planes. God or the Absolute cannot be comprehended by the human faculties. They can only be aware of His trace or impression on the terrestrial sphere and so it is His 'feet' which are made the object of veneration.
